

'Dollar Oil' Embargo Prompts Blast at U.K.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—(AP)—State Secretary Dean Acheson said today that the United States government takes a "serious" view of Britain's embargo against dollar oil.

Board Finds Expenditures Hard to Cut

OTTAWA, Feb. 2.—(CP)—A battle against budgeting government expenditures is being waged by the treasury board.

The board, headed by Finance Minister Abbott, annually assigns the task of scrutinizing the expenditures which various government departments propose for the ensuing fiscal year.

In the last few years, with revenues running ahead of expectations, the board's task was not difficult. But this year the situation is changed. Government revenues are falling, largely as a result of tax reductions in the last budget.

Rising costs are increasing expenditures. Caught in this squeeze between dropping revenues and increasing expenditures, the government is directed by the board to make economy the watchword and to scrutinize the reasons behind every proposed expenditure for the 1950-51 fiscal year, starting April 1.

The board has undertaken the task, but reports from various government sources indicate it is having a difficult time trying to effect reductions.

Part of the dilemma is caused by the fact that some departments, notably national defence and national health and welfare, have commitments necessitating increased rather than decreased expenditures.

Slices Up Hearts, Puts in New Parts

TORONTO, Feb. 2.—(CP)—A Toronto surgeon is taking out damaged portions of heart valves and putting in new parts.

And in doing so, Dr. Gordon Murray has won the praise of a heart specialist from Buffalo, N.Y., who says Dr. Murray's advances in the delicate field of heart surgery are 10 years ahead of the accomplishments of leading surgeons in the United States.

Dr. Francis O'Donnell of Buffalo watched Dr. Murray perform heart-valve operations in Buffalo woman, Mrs. Elizabeth Terrence, 35. Today Dr. O'Donnell told an interviewer that Dr. Murray is performing operations inside the heart, which make him "unique" and is doing the surgery so often that it is becoming "routine."

Quoted a few of us (U.S. surgeons) keep in touch with the Toronto General Hospital and every time Dr. Murray performs these operations we pop over," he said. "It is the only place on the continent where we can see such operations."

It is expected to contain a two-pronged move—shifting of commodities from the prohibited list to the quota list and shifting of commodities from the quota list to complete freedom of government control.

The relaxation move likely will be effective April 1 and will involve merely the importation of consumer items and not capital goods.

U.K. Dollar Gap Closes In '51, Is Prediction

SPECIAL TO THE BULLETIN
OTTAWA, Feb. 2.—(BUP)—Sir Cecil Weir, chairman of the United Kingdom dollar export board, predicted yesterday trade between Canada and the U.K. might be brought into balance next year.

Britain would be able to break the back of the problem before the end of this year, he said.

The gap to be filled by Britain, he said, was $300,000,000.

It does not seem to be at all impossible to bridge the gap, he said. "It can be achieved quite quickly, but we must be given a fair chance." Industry in Britain is getting thoroughly geared for the fight.

Yank Soldiers Spend Lot of Time in Church

By STANLEY BURKE

WHITEHORSE, Y.T., Feb. 2.—A group of 20 American soldiers here for Exercise Sweetbrier will spend more than a third of their time in church.

With the big military base already becoming crowded with men and their families, the military engineers in Canadian history, accommodation facilities have been taxed to the limit.

The 20 Americans have been billeted in the base chapel. Beds in the base have been in such short supply that the WEIRD MASKS worn by movie stars were a feature of benefit ball held this week in Santa Monica, Calif., in aid of St. John's Hospital fund. Actress Loretta Young, centre, won first prize for most beautiful mask with one modelled after Hindu temple and decorated with costume jewelry. It won over Peacock feathered creature worn by Inna Drum, right, and crystal beaked mask of Lana Turner, left, which took third prize.

Seems That Ex-Spy's Name Is Filed Under 'No Comment'

By KEN METHERAL
OTTAWA, Feb. 2.—(CP)—The RCMP are friendly, talkative men capable of lending wit and wide experience to discussions on a wealth of subjects.

But when it comes to discussing their work and especially spies—oh brother! They become as close-mouthed as clams and yield less information than a blank sheet of paper.

Officials gave one of their best hear-no-evil, see-no-evil, speak-no-evil demonstrations to a Canadian Press reporter seeking official reaction about a Washington dispatch on spies. It said that a former Russian spy now living in Canada is proving a valuable source of information to the force.

Everywhere at RCMP headquarters, the reporter received a warm handshake, a friendly smile and a two-word reply—"no comment."

It was a difficult task to see Inspector John Leopold, one of the most experienced investigators in the 1945 spy ring probe touched off by Igor Gouzenko, Russian cyber spy.

Before entering his office on the ninth floor of the government's justice building, he was met by a military policeman with a brief word that was relayed that "a man from the Canadian Press would like to see the Inspector."

After permission was granted, a dispatch was handed to the Inspector. He took it and a secretary to fill out and sign a brief word that was relayed that "a man from the Canadian Press would like to see the Inspector."

Wheat View Bright As Demand Strong

Favorable World Picture Is Seen In Reports to Agriculture Dept.

Exclusive to the Bulletin
OTTAWA, Feb. 2.—(BUP)—The world wheat situation looked bright for the Canadian farmer today.

The agriculture department and statistics bureau reported that the world picture looked favorable for next year's production and predicted continued strong demand for wheat in most markets.

Russia remained the unknown quantity.

On the domestic scene, DRS said, shipments and supplies of wheat in 1950-51 are expected to be reduced by 10 per cent more than in 1949-50.

Domestically, the supply of wheat available for export and domestic consumption at the beginning of the current crop year, Aug. 1, was only slightly less than was available the year before.

Exports HEAVY
So far this year exports were considerably heavier than they were at the same period of the 1948-49 crop year. That left the amount still available on Jan. 1 for export and reserve at 217,800,000 bushels, compared with 247,000,000 a year ago.

Reviewing other producing areas abroad, FAO said Australia, like Canada, anticipated a substantial increase in production schedule this year over last. The harvest harvest was just being started.

Latest figures showed high production. Lawrence were discovered in their bedroom on the second floor.

Fire EXTINGUISHES 3 TOTS
BRIMINGTON, Vt., Feb. 2.—(BUP)—Fire killed three children early today despite their father's efforts to save them. The flames destroyed their home.

Nine-year-old Perry Ann Baldwin was just groping for the front door handle, officials believed, when she was killed. Her mother, Mrs. Lawrence, was discovered in their bedroom on the second floor.

Snooty Stars Annoy GI's They Entertain

By Virginia MacPherson

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 2.—(BUP)—American soldiers overseas are screaming for entertainment but they're a little fed up with the movie queens Hollywood's been sending over.

The boys nowadays don't want just any old glamor gal. They want most, we discovered on a two-week tour of occupied Germany, is "stars who act human." They haven't been getting too many of those.

THEY'RE NOT TROUPERS

Some of the big name ladies from Hollywood pick the wrong time to "go elegant." They not only disgust the enlisted men, they give the brass a bad time with demands for fancy rooms, chrome-lined bathrooms and special equipment for their shows.

Some trouper take what's available with a smile and mix with the boys, but too many don't.

"What do they expect over here?" The Waldorf-Astoria's One officer asked. "We bombed the bellini's out of Berlin and Frankfurt and Munich. The hotels got hit, too. We've fixed up a few of them, but they're still not fancy."

WANT TO BE ALONE

Tops on the GI "gripe" list is the way some of the glamorous

RUGGED LIFE in North West Territories in 1907 is portrayed by Dick Powell and Evelyn Keyes in movie version of best seller, "Mrs. Mike." Adventure-filled trails lead them into lonely RCMP posts in wilds of northland. "Mrs. Mike" starts tomorrow at Rialto Theatre.

Rugged Life in North Portrayed at the Rialto

Warm, human story of a Boston girl who married a Royal North West Mounted Policeman and went with him to make her life in the frozen north, is unveiled in United Artists' release, "Mrs. Mike."

Inside Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 2.—(AP)—All Post-News knows about reports of his being appointed United States minister to the Republic of Ireland is "what I read in the papers."

Rumors have been rampant that the silver-tongued tenor and dancer would be honored with the ministerial post by President Truman. "All I can say is that the rumor has not been denied," declared Regan. "I have received no official word about such an appointment. Until I do, I shall not plan on it."

"Of course I would be proud if such an honor were given me. I would be very happy to be minister to Ireland. Beyond that I have no comment to make. Whatever happens will suit me fine."

Regan added that he has been an unofficial singing ambassador for the last 17 years. His political activity has been largely the singing of the national anthem at three democratic conventions and at the 1948 inauguration of his friend, President Truman.

WANT STOP SINGING

Regan now is playing himself in "The Little World" and may make three more pictures for MGM, depending upon whether he is appointed to Ireland. Father of four and a grandfather at 37, the tenor is now 41. He is also the father of 15 oil wells. But he doesn't plan to stop singing.

Orchestra's Pay In Stratocruiser Puzzles Union

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—(AP)—The "highest" musical note ever hit by man had a lot of people in the air today.

The question: How much should it cost?

Several notes are to be strummed by a Hawaiian orchestra aboard Boeing stratocruisers of Northwest Airlines planes between New York and Hawaii at 25,000 feet.

Should an airplane orchestra be paid hotel, nightclub or dance hall rates? Since the plane would fly via Detroit, Minneapolis-St. Paul, Spokane and Seattle, what city's standards should prevail?

The thing's so high it may reach James C. Petrie head of the American Federation of Musicians (A.F.M.). The Hawaiian orchestra leader has consulted the union.

ON SPORT

What's $100,000, Anyway...

Let's spin the sports sphere: "Lefty" Paul Pettit, 15-year old outpuncher who reached in for a $100,000 contract when signed by Pittsburgh Pirates Tuesday, was slated to pitch for Eakins of the Big Four loop last summer, had not a series of complications loused up the deal. Actually he was the young sissy-sider spend a summer at Rentview Park, with Brooklyn Dodgers — and particularly west coast Howie Haak — linked closely with the intrigue. Dodgers were high on Pettit, but so also were several other major league clubs, as the Brooklyn knew. Accordingly Dodgers, while waiting for him to become eligible for signing (he was in high school, couldn't be touched), hoped to get him to agree to come to Edmonton. What they had in mind was "hiding" the boy from prying eyes of other organizations until such time as they could, with the green light from baseball law, move in and ink him. The Dodgers, according to Haak, were prepared to go as high as a $50,000 bonus to land Pettit.

And just about the time this all might have jelled, the principal in the case came down with a sore arm. As well there was a battiermate in the picture, a catcher who was just-so-so, at best.

While John Ducey, general manager of Eaks, was debating whether or not to take the catcher as well, the news came through that Pettit had developed a sore flipper. That quered the whole thing.

Cold-Weather Training

It was cold—six below—at the race-track the other morning. Nevertheless Jay Cowan and Alec Haller, rated tops among exercise boys the week, were hard at it, galloping the hay-burners. Close to 60 head have wintered at the Exhibition grounds, including 1949 leading western winner Lee Williams' one-two punch of Air Cider and Franks Mistake. Naturally conditions are far from ideal, even if the weatherman is pulling his punches a little. But practically all thoroughbreds start back to work along about Feb. 1, none or no snow on the racing strip, cold weather or not. Incidentally, while on the subject of the turf, there was a rumor going the rounds recently to the effect that a Jockey club would be formed locally.

Add questions—no answers—supplied debt: Ace rider Johnny Longden definitely owned Gala Hour, that will stand at Murray Hill Stock Farm this spring. The 13-year old girl passed through the hands of Jim Speers into those of a local syndicate. What chance that Longden still will own Gala Hour?

He's still in three pictures: Jack Buttan, former Hardisty skip now of Calgary, who polished off CHH Mannheim yesterday, was a better than average puck-chaser in his youth.

But Will They Win Anything?

How about those frequent reports out of New Zealand assuring the folks back home that "the morale of Canada's British Empire Games" team is high? And why shouldn't it be high, considering what a soft touch a jaunt to New Zealand is in mid-winter, particularly as most of the athletes are travelling and living "on the cuff" as represented by so many persons and organizations that contributed to the fund to send them overseas. So their morale is high? Now isn't that just wonderful... Al (Mr. Murder) Mills, who goes to rattle "Whisper Billy" Watson at the Cow Palace Tuesday, is Camrose all the way. Fact is he was born in the thriving center, 70 miles southeast of Edmonton the big fellow, scheduled to go into his routine on one of The Boy Promotor's cards, several caravans of his Camrose friends make the jump to "the city."

Like a lot of other retired fighters before him, Rocky McDonald is starting to put on the pounds. A year ago he was trying to make 160 pounds for the fight with Eddie Halligan. Now he must be up there close to 190 or more.

Add this one up: Mickey McGuire got himself appointed to the Boxing and Wrestling Commission, hasn't shown for a meeting or a fight card since.

Central Scores

Broomball Win

Gwen McBurney and Shirley Smith took the lead in the night as Central edged Broomball 1-0 in a Community League Broomball game played at Central rink.

McBurney scored the game's only goal and Smith played hockey in the nets, earning her second shutout in as many games.

A Real Soldier

By George Howe

Synopsis: Happy, a German soldier who has agreed to spy for the American army, is travelling through Germany on a false passport. He has decided to accept the invitation of a German soldier to spend the night at the latter's camp. Happy is informed that in return for his hospitality he is to take care of an ailing colonel. The grateful colonel has ordered a farmer to deliver before a firing squad. Happy believed he could save the farmer by refusing to give the dying colonel an injection of diplofin. Now go on with the story.

CHAPTER THIRTEEN

Happy jumped up and switched on the light. He lifted the loaded pistol gingerly to the window sill. Now the colonel had fallen back on his pillow, his whole body motionless to save strength for the final struggle locked within his chest. The parted lips began to foam.

"Hille", he gasped again, more faintly. It was less a human syllable than the groan of an animal in pain.

Happy knew pulmonary edema when he saw it. The colonel was drowning. Happy ignored the diplofin in the colonel's syringe. He threw a quarter-grain of morphine from his own kit into the wastebasket and poured in a spoonful of the juice of the striped pampas, sucked up the morphine in his own syringe and plunged it into the arm. He waited the four tourniquets, ten minutes the arms above the elbows and two round the thighs, ten minutes the spasms had subsided.

It was as his father had often described the relief of acute edema—when the water in the blood fills the lungs—so he had even seen it once himself on a hospital bed in Berlin, but this time not by his father's hand but a sense, not even by his own hand, as he defined his hand by the hand of a corporal with the false name of Steinberg by a name which would be a mortal sin. He chose, he waited or multiplied the drug, and so taken the life before him and saved the life to be taken in the morning.

Colonel is Grateful

The tall hairy-backed hands on the field-gear blanket unclasped. The unmoving eyes no longer stared into death. They drew back into aliveness and hardened into pride, pride that he had not been found. They held no gratitude to the corporal. The colonel's breathing ceased; they paused a moment longer, still unblinking, to mark their reward command. The eyelids fell on them, the colonel's head leaned to the wall, his whole body relaxed, and he slept.

Before Happy knew he had slept, the colonel's head had slipped. The colonel's head had slipped. The colonel's head had slipped.

"Are you awake, Corporal?"

Happy stirred. He looked at the colonel's head on his wrist. It was 6:00.

"Yes, Herr Oberst."

"I am well again, thanks to your promptness. Do not turn on the light again, but pour a glass of my wine for each of us."

In the dark Happy groped for the bottle on the bedside table, for four he might just as well have found the glasses and poured them. He held one toward the bed. The colonel's hand met his. The glass touched his.

"To Germany," the colonel repeated heavily.

"To Germany," the corporal repeated.

"Lie down and let me talk to you, but do not look at me. For what it is worth, you have saved my life, even though you acted against orders. A man who is just reporting from the doorway of death has a right to the second luxury of talking about himself. Perhaps he reports to himself, or perhaps to God, or perhaps to a superior. I am a casual corporal whom he will never see again and his soldier's oath not to reveal the indignity. Do you promise?"

"Yes, Herr Oberst."

"Say, 'On my soldier's oath.'"

"Auf meinen Fahneneid," Happy repeated.

Colonel Makes Confession

"Good," pronounced the colonel. "Now I want to recount to you the things which have just seen at death's gate that I am not afraid of it. I record it with surprise and joy. You have read that Samson, the Russian general, shot himself at the defeat of Tannenberg. I will confess that is why my pistol has been on the table tonight."

"I have been in the Army many years and am not afraid to die. I am sure to claim that we can press back the hordes of savages from the east and the west. It is folly to think that this division which I am building out of papers on a tray can mean any other fate than the three divisions of which it is the remnant. We call ourselves a combat division. Think of it, eight 150 and twelve 150 to a regiment; one HMG and three light to a company. And of course only two regiments where there should be three, but one is used to that."

"Well, my boy, you have done some small service to your country in saving me, and I apologize for having cut short your leave. If I have done so, I want you to tell me what reward I can give you for this night. Shall I ask your commander to give you a day or two extra leave?"

"Thank you, no, Herr Oberst. I have a duty at the front. Also, it is only one thing."

"A promotion? You handsome young fellow."

"A promotion? You handsome young fellow."

"A promotion? You handsome young fellow."

self as dutiful as an expert would have done."

Appeal In Vain

"No, my Colonel, there is only one thing; perhaps this is foolish of me—but if you would have mercy on the farmer and put him in prison instead."

Happy stood at attention, facing the foot of the bed. His hands were clenched at his sides. He knew that his voice shook a little. The colonel looked up at him sharply from the bed.

"No, no! that request I cannot grant. I know that your profession is to save life, even the unworthy. I can give no quarter there, and you have heard me say why. Do we live to dissolve it?"

Happy unclasped his fists. He felt the color drain from his face. He knew now that the colonel had truly not been afraid of death. It would send the farmer to it, having killed him, was only a matter of time.

"If I feel as well as ever," chuckled the colonel. "Now I am going to get up and shave, even dress. Go and have your own breakfast and bring me back a tray, if you will. I shall be shaved by the time you return."

"And you, Corporal," he called, "get your gear ready as you can go right after breakfast."

But Happy had to get out of the gate before the execution, without waiting for breakfast or for a ride in the divisional transport. He fled, without thinking of his own. This early in the morning—it was six o'clock—there were only half a dozen officers in the mess hall.

Colonel Gives Commendation

He hurried across the compound as fast as he could without spilling the bowl of coffee. When he reached Room 38 the colonel was already fully dressed, sitting at his table with the beribboned turban untied, and gazing at the trayful of papers through his monocle.

"The colonel called joyfully, 'You have moved quickly to get to the mess hall and back in so short a time. I have taken an apartment of paper work, to fit me for the day.' He pointed to two papers in the basket."

"I thought the Colonel would be hungry, so I postponed my own breakfast until he had the kindness to dismiss me."

"You have been both kind and competent," he smiled, looking forward a slip with the swastika seal of the division. "I have written this commendation, which may save you some difficulty in the forward."

Happy's hand slipped. The colonel's hand met his. The glass touched his.

"To Germany," the colonel repeated heavily.

"To Germany," the corporal repeated.

"Lie down and let me talk to you, but do not look at me. For what it is worth, you have saved my life, even though you acted against orders. A man who is just reporting from the doorway of death has a right to the second luxury of talking about himself. Perhaps he reports to himself, or perhaps to God, or perhaps to a superior. I am a casual corporal whom he will never see again and his soldier's oath not to reveal the indignity. Do you promise?"

"Yes, Herr Oberst."

"Say, 'On my soldier's oath.'"

"Auf meinen Fahneneid," Happy repeated.

Happy Sees Blacklist

"The officer of the day sends up the new Blacklist, Herr Oberst. Will you kindly initial this receipt and return the book to the orderly room at your convenience?"

The colonel rolled his eyes in mock despair at this addition to his day's work.

He handed the booklet on the table. The colonel did it, but he slipped the receipt. "To a little while. To use to glance it over first. And before you go, messenger," he said, "my signature for the execution."

He held forward the square of white paper which contained the signature. The messenger turned to leave. He had not once looked at Happy.

"Just a moment," the colonel called. "A word with you alone first."

He rose and followed the messenger into the corridor, closing the door behind him. Happy heard them whispering outside. In two short steps he was at the table. He looked at the light covers of the Blacklist, stamped just like the bulletin at Krumpholtz. "Not an fall into enemy hands," his fingers turned to where the 5 page should be.

He had only time to see the name of KARL before he heard the knob turn behind him. He sprang back and was struggling with the straps of his knapsack when the colonel re-entered the room.

Red Cross Activity Shows Post-War Progress Good

Reports from committees of Edmonton branch of Canadian Red Cross Society indicated last night at its annual general meeting in Corona hotel there was no post-war slackening of voluntary aid.

President C. B. Clark praised the sector for the efforts shown during 1949.

"The different forms of assistance carried out in our welfare work now reach an imposing number of people," he reported. "Many range all the way from personal misfortune and tragedies to major disasters. We feel that each case has been dealt with promptly and efficiently, with courtesy and understanding."

Mr. Clark said national headquarters of the society had authorized a grant of $92,000 for the local work of the society through its branches.

"Plans for its erection are maturing as rapidly as possible," he said. "It is not being too optimistic to hope that next year's annual meeting will be held in our own new building."

Report of women's work room, submitted by Mrs. Allison Proctor, indicated that 1,800 articles, including lavatories, quilts, socks, etc., had been made during the past year.

KEEP UNDER BUDGET

In the summary of welfare services, 360 cases received emergency welfare aid, 57 cases of emergency fire aid, 20 individuals received emergency medical aid, 40 emergency medical aid, and 40 emergency medical aid to 400 others.

An estimated 10,776 people were served by Red Cross during the year, and assistance was given by approximately 2,200 people.

Report by A. H. Skelfield for the disaster committee, indicated that 57 homes were destroyed by fire in Edmonton district during the past year, and 2,407 articles were given out by Red Cross as an expense of $1,640.

In the financial statement it was revealed that total receipts for the year were $20,074.71, with expenses totaling $25,992.39, which is $10,000 lower than the allowed budget.

Richard Secord and M. Campbell, secretary-manager, indicated an excellent response from the public. Aid help to 7,054 patients in city hospitals. It was estimated the cost would have been at least $10,000 in the days before voluntary clinics.

Students' Paper Draws Suspension

University Officials Halt Publication of The Gateway

The Gateway has been suspended. University of Alberta student union publication today was denied the privilege of using the University printing facilities.

The suspension came direct from university president Dr. R. Newton. No explanation has been offered either by the president or from J. M. Whidden, university bursar, who issued orders to the printing press. According to officials, the orders not to set Gateway material were phoned to the printers by Mr. Whidden.

The printers advised Gateway editors.

"I am not prepared to tell you anything right now," said the bursar when questioned by the Bulletin.

EXPECT LETTER

Dr. Newton offered no explanation of the orders to the Bulletin. The president's only remark was, "I have no statement to make" regarding the suspension.

A letter from the president explaining the action is expected by students union officials some time today.

The Gateway was said to be published Friday.

Any possible explanation for the suspension of publication, said Gateway officials, is the engineers' union.

The engineers' union was printed last week and was considered by officials to be objectionable.

Economy Move

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—(AP)—Defence secretary Louis Johnson today ordered 18 military hospitals in the United States closed or put on a "do-or-die" basis. He estimated the move will save $25,000,000 a year.

Adopt Insignia

BONN, Germany, Feb. 2.—(AP)—The West German Republic today adopted the eagle of the pre-Hitler Weimar Republic as its official insignia. By this act it wished to emphasize that the Federal (West) German Republic is no new state but is identical with the German Reich, which was suspended in 1945.

Happy birthday, Tawana

Whole Hog or None

Without a doubt he was the sharpest groundhog I have ever interviewed. I found him under the river bank near the Arctic Ice Co. barn, after Leo McParlane had arranged the interview. Leo is an expert on shadows, 5 o'clock shadow in particular.

"So you still have to write those screechy groundhog stories every Feb. 2," was the first sarcastic observation of my furry friend.

Then grinning like the near-vessel he is, the groundhog went on: "Why don't you go over to Gainers or Swifts? They have groundhog there every day."

The little smart alec roared at his own alleged joke and repeated: "Ground hog every day. Ground hog every day. Do you get it? I should really be on the Loh Hope program."

No Stopping Him

I couldn't stop the little varmint at this stage. "You've caught me at a bad time. I'm pretty thin. Just a shadow of my former self in fact." Again he laughed uproariously. I just had to take it.

"So you're interested in shadows, eh? Why don't you talk to people who can really throw a substantial shadow, such as Jula Kinnik or the Cardiff gang," he cracked.

Suddenly the fuzzy refugee from a fur auction became serious. A startled look came into his beady eyes as he glanced furtively over his shoulder. "I saw it, no doubt about it," he said. "I was kind of hoping I wouldn't see it either because you folks have sure taken an awful beating this winter. But orders are orders. I'll be seeing you 'round 'bout May 1. The interview's over chum."

Then the groundhog disappeared down a hole, humming a line of "Mr. and My Shadow." That was the last I saw of him. Was I ever glad.

Some "Bear" Facts

An Edmonton woman who was born in Ontario says everybody's "all wet" about groundhog day being on Feb. 2. She says it's a bear that looks at his shadow that day. "The groundhog doesn't come out until early in March. Personally I don't care less."

Elegant Elsie, my favorite waitress, thinks the author of a recent article entitled: "What kind of people live the longest?" is just plain wrong. "Everybody knows that old people live the longest," says Elsie.

And speaking of elegant Elsie reminds me that Valentine's Day is coming up on Feb. 14. It's a sort of double-header this year with Pancake Tuesday falling on the same day. As it's just before payday I predict a lot of people will be flatter than pancakes just about then.

A gentle good night to everybody and especially to people who suffer from 5 o'clock shadow.

Westerners Are Paying For Eastern Television

Development of television broadcasting in Canada is being retarded through present policies of Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, Donald E. Henshaw of Toronto said yesterday.

Mr. Henshaw is senior executive of MacLaren's Advertising Agency and is accompanied on a cross-country business tour by Edward Thompson of Winnipeg, the firm's western regional manager.

Mr. Henshaw said there are 400,000 people in Ontario who know of the "radio" but only a few have seen television broadcasts from the province.

On that date, or thereabouts, Vancouver's Trans-Canada Ltd. will learn if its application to put the former U.S. Army landing craft to work on Greyhound Television is being granted by the board of transport commissioners.

At the conclusion of hearings in Edmonton yesterday the board promised to let the company know the decision at the "earliest possible date."

If the license to run the Explorer as a cargo and passenger vehicle is granted, the company will be required to operate it as a cargo ship carrying livestock through the northlands, a move critics charge "right up to the Arctic Ocean."

Mr. Henshaw said many residents for such a service, "company president R. H. Harcourt told the board."

Mites To Drill

All boys under 12 years of age interested in etching a place on one of the world's most famous teams, are reminded that practices will start tomorrow at the north and south side of the rink.

Cecil Goldrick, directing the league for the Recreation Commission, has scheduled the workouts for 4:30-6:00 p.m.

Home Occupied by Eight Is Destroyed by Flames

Home occupied by a family of eight at 30 First Avenue was destroyed by fire this morning.

It was home of Mrs. D. J. George, Skare and their six children.

Mrs. Skare and son, Billy, 3, escaped the fire, and Mrs. Skare was rescued and Mr. Skare was at work.

Firefighters from No. 2 hall arrived at a half-past 10 to find the house a mass of flames and had to use a water truck to bring the blaze under control.

Blaze broke out in the living room and seemed to originate from a stove pipe.

Skare explained that he carried no insurance on the building or contents and all that was saved was an iron bedstead and mattress.

A charge of $6 per hour per rink will be made, starting Saturday, for all hockey rink players more than 10 years of age, using city-owned hockey rinks, Parks Superintendent A. J. Skare said.

Annual congregational meeting of the Highland United Church will be held Friday at 8 p.m. in the church hall, Rev. F. Samis will preside.

Bank clearings for the week ending Feb. 2 totalled $2,400,000, as compared to $1,913,000 for the same period a year ago. This is an increase of $487,000.

The building fund for the hall now stands at $72,500.

Scale Models Help Farmers

Court Warns Wayward Boy

George Henry DeLong, 20, was warned in supreme court yesterday that he might spend the rest of his life in jail if he "didn't straighten up."

The warning was given by Mrs. Ruth Barr, 9565 7th Avenue, Mrs. Barr had remembered number of seats, told police of her loss.

The woman acting as host said she intended to return the purse but didn't think the tickets would reach Mr. Barr in time for her to use them.

Mr. Justice Sheppard agreed and told the youth: "One more time in here, and it might prove to be the last."

The attempted robbery failed when Zigash struggled to his feet and took after his attackers.

Vision of Service Theme of Meeting Presbyterian of WMS Meet at Scona Church for Annual Sessions

"A Vision of Service" was the theme of the 36th annual meeting of the Edmonton Presbyterian of the WMS of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, held yesterday in Strathcona Presbyterian Church.

More than 100 delegates were in attendance. Highlight of the conference was an address by Miss Ruth Walker of Winnipeg, given at the evening session. Regional secretary of the Society for Saskatchewan and Manitoba, Miss Walker discussed the missionary work of the church.

At the morning session, Miss Walker led the discussion which followed reports on literature, library and press, given by Miss J. Lobb, Mrs. A. E. Forrester and Mrs. L. L. Walker.

Devotional was led by Mrs. I. E. Hahn, Mrs. H. O. T. Hurlow gave the prayer for workers, and Mrs. H. C. Carlson the closing prayer. Members of the Strathcona branch served luncheon in the social room of the church.

In the afternoon, Rev. I. D. McSwen brought greetings to the delegates, and a life membership pin was presented to Mrs. A. A. Walker.

Reports were given by Mrs. C. Bernhardt, corresponding secretary; Mrs. G. J. Troner, science and welfare; Mrs. J. J. Robertson, supply; Mrs. J. Price, children's department; Mrs. H. Paterson, C.Y.F.; Mrs. A. L. Forrester, resolutions and nominating committee.

Mrs. James Dunn gave the devotional and Mrs. John Keiman offered the dedicatory prayer. Tea was served in the church parlor.

Mrs. T. Buchanan was in charge of registration, and Mrs. J. Irving was pianist.

With the Norman invasion, French culture was introduced to the British island bringing tall candles, richer wall hangings, intricately carved furniture into the room.

A paper on table appointments and manners in Norman times was given, dealing with table decoration, seating arrangements and eating utensils of that age.

Correspondence was read from members of sister groups overseas, thanking Edmonton members for Christmas parcels of food, clothing and especially soap.

President Mrs. Vera Campbell conducted the meeting which ended her home in Mohrville.

MAHURD, P.C. Feb. 2.—St. Paul's church was the scene of a pretty afternoon ceremony, when Mrs. L. H. Hahn performed the ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Cook and the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Brandt.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and was attended by Miss Flaura Brandt, sister of the bridegroom. Edwin Brandt was her brother's best man.

Wedding breakfast was held at the bride's home immediately after the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Brandt will make their home in Mohrville.

CENTRAL UNITED CHURCH was setting recently for pretty wedding of Joyce Fidler and Maurice Bailey Hagarty. Bride is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Fidler. Bridegroom is son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hagarty.

Canned Salmon is one of the most popular seafoods available today. Yet, many home makers do not realize the wonderful nutritional value of it, nor how versatile and economical it can be. With ample protein, calcium, carbohydrates, phosphorus, iodine and Vitamins A, D, and G, in one tin of Salmon, a very nourishing meal can be had. Served hot, it's an appetizing treat on chilly evenings.

The economical value of Canned Salmon comes from the fact that there is no waste and that it can be extended in so many ways, so that a small tin, combined with noodles or macaroni, rice or potatoes, for instance, can be used to serve several.

Here's a penny-stretcher recipe for you:

SALMON WITH SPAGHETTI OR MACARONI

1 lb. can Salmon
1/2 lb. spaghetti or macaroni
2 salt, pepper
Grated cheese
2 eggs
3 pint milk

Place Salmon, strain liquor, hot spaghetti or macaroni, broken small in a saucepan, season well and simmer in oil of double butter until creamy. On each hot tin ladle a cup of Salmon flakes, place hot spaghetti or macaroni, and garnish with creamed strips of potato. Serves 4. For a tempting luncheon, main course, serve with creamed potatoes and spinach, followed by hearts of lettuce and Thousand Island Dressing.

SALMON CROQUETTES

3 cups, minute tapioca
1/2 cup salt
1/2 cup paprika
1 cup chopped green pepper and pepper, ground cheese, and repeat the operation until spaghetti or macaroni, and Salmon are used.

Beat eggs, add milk, butter and the Salmon liquor, pour evenly over the top. Sprinkle with grated Canadian cheese, and cook in gratin in the oven. Serve hot.

In preparing hot meals from Canned Salmon, it is wise to remember that the modestly priced pink Salmon does just as well as the more expensive Red Salmon and Coho, which are perfect for salads and uncoked Salmon meals. The pink Salmon contains just as many of the vital food elements (Vitamins A, D, and G, minerals and protein) and it is helpful in keeping food costs down.

These curly-flavored Salmon patties will rate high praise from your family, and you will certainly feel a glow of accomplishment from serving a delicious meal that combines both nutrition and economy.

CURRIED SALMON PATTIES

(These can be prepared in advance, and placed in your refrigerator, between layers of waxed paper.)

1 lb. can Salmon
3 cups mashed potatoes
1 teaspoon curry powder
1/2 cup salt
1 cup pepper
1 cup chopped parsley
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1 egg, slightly beaten
Flour, for coating

Heat oil. Sauté the potatoes in 12 cups are freshly cooked and mashed, add pepper, curried potatoes, salt, pepper, curry powder, parsley and onion; combine lightly but completely. Mix in 1/2 cup salt. Drain and flake the Salmon; add flaked Salmon to potato mixture and combine. Chill. Shape mixture into patties and coat with flour. Pan-fry in a little heated shortening or bacon drippings until brown and heated through, turning as necessary. Serve hot.

Appetizing, warming, and filling, Salmon Crox Buns make a good dish and yet fill the bill at ordinary meal times too. Try them next time you're stumped on what to serve for dinner. Economical and exciting, they'll go over big with young fry as well as adults.

SALMON CROSS BUNS

2 large sandwich buns
2 cups (1 lb.) canned Salmon
Salt and pepper
4 eggs
2 cups milk and cream
8 pimento strips

Split buns in half. Flake Salmon and arrange around edge on outside of buns. Season with salt, pepper, and melted butter and a

Leg-Lookers Ponder Mistinguett Mystery

PARIS.—(AP)—How can a girl keep a pair of legs like that so long—and just how long has she kept them? Nightly the ABC Theatre, one of this city's gayest, is jammed with people come to stare at Mistinguett and ponder these grave questions.

Mistinguett—who seems as perennial to the French as Sophie Tucker does to America—is renowned as having legs the like of which are walked on only by Martine Dietrich or Betty Grable.

As a Parisian who lives here has been famous since about the turn of the century, Mistinguett is coy about her legs. She recently told a group of newspaper men, "I was born in 1884." That was her first leg. "I was born in 1884." That was her first leg. "I was born in 1884." That was her first leg.

She is under no illusion that she come to see her face, which she admits is not pretty, or to hear her rather harsh voice, although it has been recorded thousands of times.

They do come to see how energetic she still is, and to watch her dancing, in a traditional Parisian style, in a traditional Parisian style, in a traditional Parisian style.

SWEATER NEWS gives a fashion-forecast with a twist. It says that in the winter of 1950-51, the sweater will be the king of the wardrobe. It will be the king of the wardrobe. It will be the king of the wardrobe.

king of diamonds dropped from the East hand. He decided to prolong the game as long as possible. He led a small club to the ace and ruffed a club. East's Jack dropped.

The nine of spades was led and overraken in dummy with the queen and another club ruffed. East played the king of clubs.

Nursing Students Receive First Caps

Rev. Sister Herman Presents Caps To Class of 31 at General Hospital

Thirty-one students were formally accepted into the School of Nursing of the Edmonton General Hospital at a candlelight ceremony yesterday.

Caps were presented by Rev. Sister A. Herman, Superior, assisted by Miss Elizabeth Hietch, acting director of nurses, Miss Noreen Lambert, science instructor, and Miss Lucy Morton, president of the Student Council.

The easiest way to dust out crevices in current Victorian furniture is to use a clean paint brush.

A limp veil can be restored by placing it between two pieces of waxed paper and running a warm (not hot) iron over it.

Mrs. H. Wright Named Leader Of Legion Aux.

Mrs. Harold Wright was re-elected to the presidency of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Kingsway branch of the Canadian Legion, at the annual meeting held last week in the Kingsway Hall.

Other newly elected officers are Mrs. Howell Williams, first vice-president; Mrs. Charles Williams, second vice-president; Mrs. Dave More, secretary; Mrs. Eric Saunders, treasurer.

Executive committee includes Mrs. R. Allen, Mrs. A. Anderson, Mrs. A. Bingle, Mrs. T. Greening, Mrs. William Lajewski and Mrs. T. Lortie.

Mrs. Harold Wright, president of the Kingsway branch, presided at the meeting.

Annual reports were presented by chairman of standing committee of the Auxiliary.

The president thanked the active and members at large for the spirit of co-operation always throughout the year.

SUCCESS STORY

Mistinguett's success came with a favorable article by Cautie Menes, a critic, poet and playwright who died in 1900. She went on the legitimate stage and made a hit in both comedies and dramas.

"I was coming about 34 a day and had to buy my own clothes," she recalls.

"I preferred the music hall with its lights and music and atmosphere," she says, "but I always wanted to play 'Madame Sings' at the Comedie Francaise."

She was the star of the Folies Bergere and the Casino de Paris, and that is what she remains in the memory of Paris today.

In 1900, she hopes to make a tour in Canada and show the famous legs in Japan, "but nothing has been signed yet."

Scotch Lass Wins Again

Winnipeg. — (CP) — Dancing comes naturally to Audrey Davey, who recently won her fifth consecutive grand aggregate award at the Scottish Games here. She's been dancing for 15 years, although she's only 20. The last won her first prize at the age of six.

A slight, Auburn-haired girl about five feet tall, Audrey took first place in all classes in the sword dance, Highland Fling and other events, adding more trophies to the long list of awards she holds. Among them is the St. Andrew's Shield, which she has won five times and the Labor Day grand aggregate trophy, her crowning triumph.

New City Law Firm

Opens in Tegler Bldg.

A new partnership in the general practice of law is announced in the opening of offices in the Tegler Building by Gerard Amerongen and J. T. Burger.

Mr. Amerongen, a University of Alberta graduate, articulated here with G. G. L. Moore and has practiced law in the city for some years.

Now 36, he saw service as a lieutenant in the Canadian Infantry. He was a winner of the lieutenant governor's medal during his course with Canadian Officers' Training Corps.

Two and a half years in the Italian campaign, Mr. Burger, now 30, was a captain in the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps. He finished his law course with the University of Alberta following the war and articulated with J. H. Ogilvie, K.C. Previously in private practice, he at the time of his articulation was a member of the attorney-general's department here.

Municipal Co-Operative Seed Cleaning Plant

Opens Tuesday at Morinville

The $200,000 plant was officially opened when Hon. David Ure, minister of agriculture, officiated and Nap Dusonick, manager, watches the switch throwing which started wheels rolling.

OIL

Excelsior Oil Field

Extended One Mile

By C. V. Myers

The Excelsior oil field appears today to have been extended one mile to the east. Pacific Excelsior No. 1 has had an oil rise of 120 feet in the top 13 feet of the D-2 zone. Another five-foot core is being taken and another test will follow. The Excelsior field near Morinville is 18 miles north of Edmonton.

Pacific officials say they are confident of a good well. The D-2 was contacted several feet higher than the Rio Bravo success south of the Imperial discovery and only four feet lower than the Imperial discovery. Imperial had a pay zone of 20 feet in D-2 and Rio Bravo about twice that much.

The Pacific group owns the quarter on which the well is being drilled and has announced the intention to drill it out before returning to further activity on holdings at Hedder. The group includes Pacific, 35 per cent, Sunray, 30 per cent, Atlantic, 20 per cent, Calvan and Tower each 12 1/2 per cent.

Pacific geologists say the possibility in the Excelsior core is good. Production will be taken from D-2. No attempt will be made to find a D-3 below. Pacific's holdings in the area are limited to the quarter between the well and the Imperial.

Land office rush days were recalled at the legislative buildings in British Columbia as oil prospecting in British Columbia was in a near panic.

Five applications for prospecting licences were filed and there was a line-up outside the office. C. C. Mainwaring, president of the Imperial Petroleum Ltd., and a director of Imperial Oil Co. Ltd., were first in the line.

A map reserve was placed on all prospecting at the time it was accepted that Imperial had made arrangements to prospect for oil on 200,000 acres of Graham Island, the northern island of the Queen Charlotte group.

Wildcats For B.C. Two wells were announced for British Columbia, which include the well at Imperial, which was a 2,500 feet well, by the Imperial Petroleum Ltd., and a director of Imperial Oil Co. Ltd., were first in the line.

Phillips Petroleum of Bartlesville has located its Sunset Prairie well in the 10-2 at the well, the other is a 1,000 feet well.

Western Oils. Cattle & McCarthy Ltd. has located its Sunset Prairie well in the 10-2 at the well, the other is a 1,000 feet well.

Gas Pools. After supplies in the Redwater field are exhausted, it will be possible to pump-generate there to gas producers. Dr. Nauss explained.

Canadian Industrials. James Richardson and Sons. The company is a 1,000 feet well.

Morinville's Seed Plant

Operations Are Started

By Des Gilligan

For the people of Morinville Wednesday was a milestone. After planning and planning for two years, the Morinville Seed Cleaning Co-op was finally a reality.
